GUIDE TO REGISTRATION AS A FISH PROCESSOR

Definition of Fish Processing:

The Fisheries Management Act 2007, defines a fish processor as:

“a person who for the purpose of trade or business processes or purchase or obtains fish.”

and processing is defined as:

“scaling, gilling, gutting, filleting, freezing, chilling, packing or other activity involved in preparing fish for sale.”

This means that any person who purchases, for the purpose of trade or business, from a licence holder must register as a fish processor.

Amendments to the Processor Registration Details:

Processors may register additional processing premises during the year by making an application to the Minister. Application forms to register additional or remove premises are available from Fisheries Licensing on the number below. The fee for such additional registration will be $28.25. Please note that it is an offence to use any premises in connection with processing fish unless the premises are specified in the certificate of registration.
