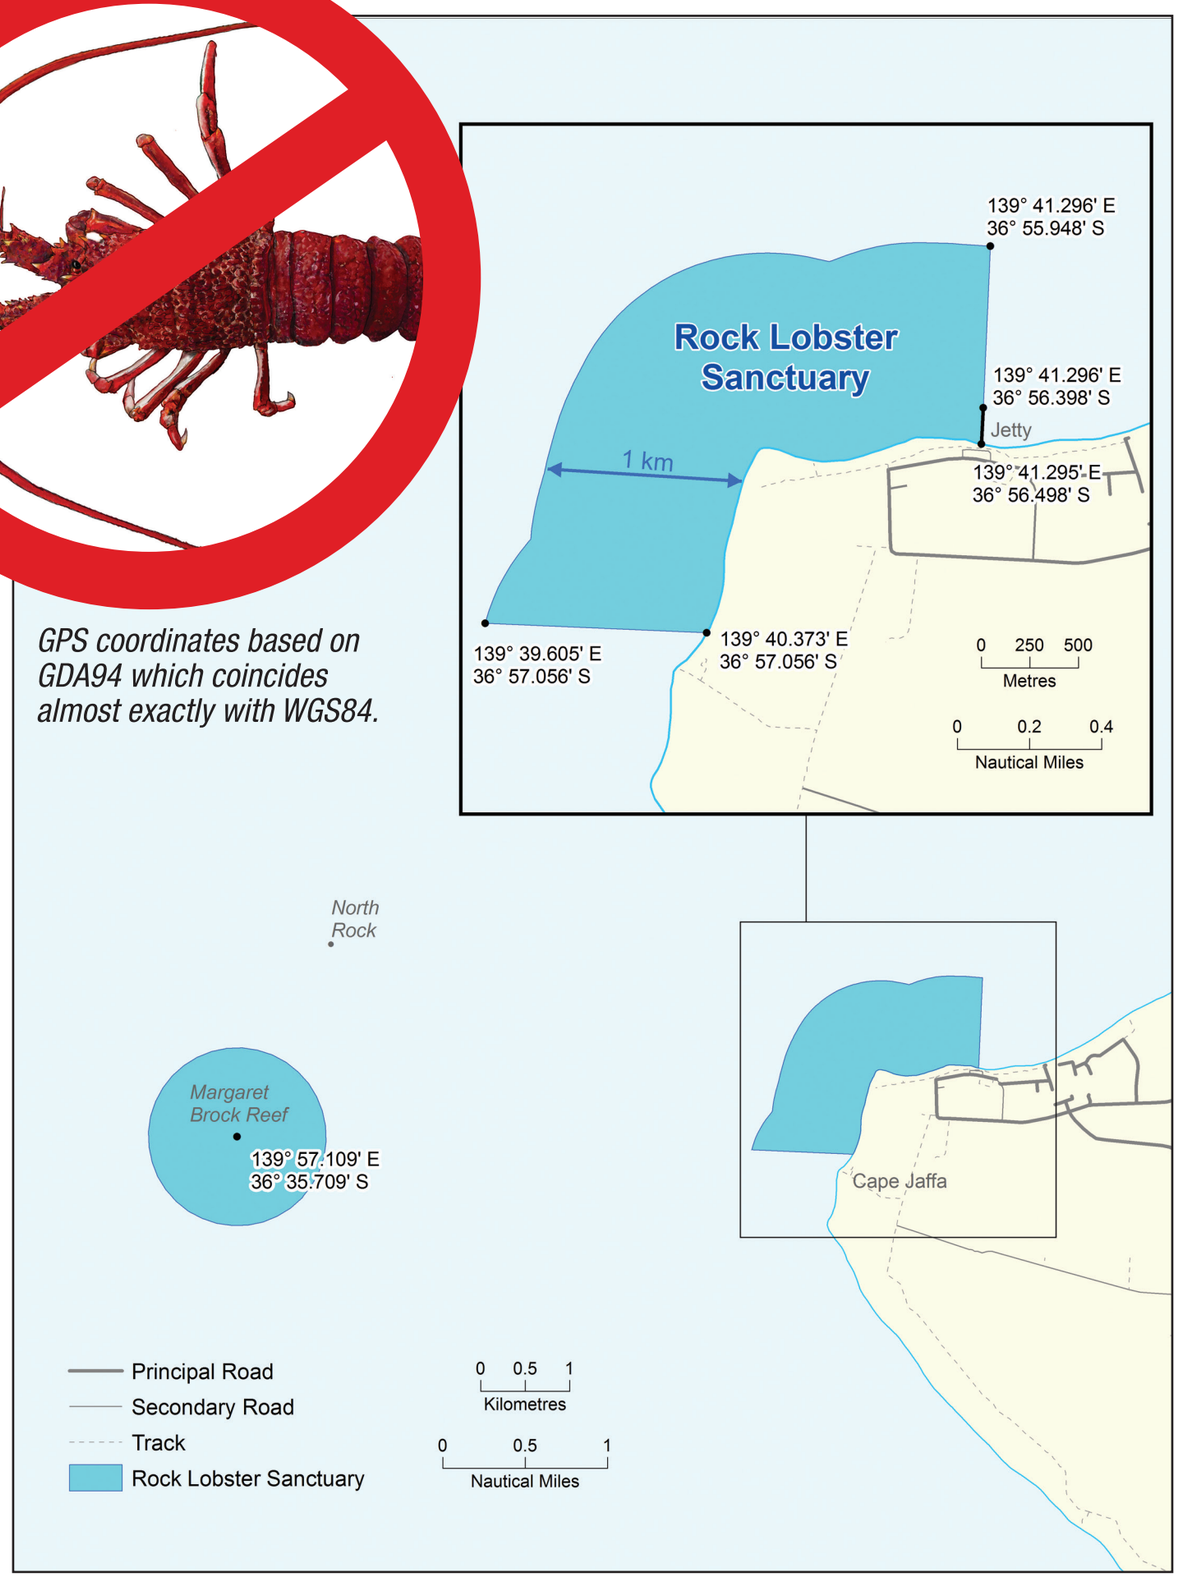
Rock Lobster Sanctuary

The Margaret Brock Reef and Cape Jaffa Rock Lobster sanctuaries are closed to the taking of Rock Lobster by any person, at all times.

Southern Rock Lobster is an iconic and highly valued commercial and recreational species in South Australia.

Closed areas, like this one, are vital to protect the sustainability of Southern Rock Lobster stocks. They provide important refuge where Rock Lobster can grow to their full potential and are able to reproduce without threat of capture.



Note: The Margaret Brock Reef sanctuary includes all waters within 1 kilometre of the reef.

Maximum penalty of $35,000 applies.
